ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The District Health Barometer (DHB) is a collaborative effort made possible through the invaluable contributions of numerous individuals and organisations. This publication would not have been realised without their dedication and support.

We extend our sincere appreciation to the National Department of Health (NDoH) for providing access to data from the web-based District Health Information System (WebDHIS). Additionally, we acknowledge the National Treasury for supplying health expenditure and human resources data, which were essential to this publication.

The information contained in this publication may be freely distributed and reproduced provided that the source is acknowledged and the information is used for non-commercial purposes.
