Editorial Support

Josianne Roma-Reardon, Candy Day and Peter Barron.

Conceptualisation

We would like to thank the SAHR Advisory Committee members and all HST staff who contributed to the conceptualisation and planning process of the Review.

Contributing Authors

We extend our sincere appreciation to the individual authors and their organisations. This 12th edition of the Review could not have been prepared without your generous contributions within tight deadlines and production schedules.

Reviewers

We extend our gratitude to the national Department of Health for their input. We express sincere appreciation to the following peer reviewers who provided extremely useful comments, suggestions and inputs on chapters in their areas of expertise: Peter Barron, Andy Gray, Heather McLeod, Mark Blecher, Shan Naidoo, Linda Grainger, Kurt Worrall-Clare, Max Price, Boyce Mkhize, Ronel Visser, Kobus Herbst, Nceba Gqaleni, Haroon Wadee, Sheila Themba, William Dachs, Victor Litlhakanyane, Lydia Footman and Dingie Janse van Rensburg.

Access to Data

We are grateful to the national and provincial Departments of Health for providing access to the various data sets that form the basis of the Review.

Other Support

We would like to acknowledge the role of the following HST staff who provided support and assistance in producing the Review: Naadira Karrim, Faith Kumalo, Halima Hoosen Preston, Jaine Roberts, Elliot Sello, Ashnie Padarath, Sithandiwe Nyawose, Fiorenza Monticelli, Elizabeth Lutge, Farana Khan, Delene King and Dudu Zondi. Once again Lynda Campbell and her team at The Press Gang have worked tirelessly to meet the production schedules of the Review. We are indebted to them for their determination to maintain the high standard of design and layout that has become associated with the Review. Finally, we extend our gratitude to Desré Stead from Perlego Information Consulting.

Cover

'Rural Assertiveness' by Clive Sithole. This painting was inspired by a visit to Mona Market in Nongoma, KwaZulu-Natal. Clive is associated with the Africa Art Centre and has exhibited both art and traditional Zulu ceramics at a number of galleries in the country.
